Senator Sumaer's Speech. As there is considerable interest felt in the matter, we give the following extract, from the Globe, of Senator Sumper's gross attack upon Senator Butler in his absence, which caused Mr. Brooks's casting of which we have been twice told was "meas ured," the Senator, in the unrestrained chivalry of his nature, has undertaken to apply opprobrious words to those who differ from him on this floor. He calls them "sectional and fanatical;" and opposition to the usurpation in Kansas he denounces as "an uncalculating fanaticism." To be sure, these charges lack all grace of originality and all sentiment of truth; but the adven turous Senator does not hesitate. He is the uncompromising, unblushing represen tative on this floor of a flagrant sectional ism, which now domineers over the republic, and yet with a ludierous ignorance of his own position-unable to see himself as others see him-or with an effrontery which even his white head ought not to protect from rebuke, he applies to those here who resist his sectionalism the very epithet which designates himself. The men who strive to bring back the Government to its original policy, when freedom and not slavery was national, while slavery and not freedom was sectional, he arraigns as sectional. This will not do. It involves too great a perversion of terms. I tell that Senator, that it is to himself, and to the "organization" of which he is the commit-ted advocate," that this epithet belongs. I now fasten it upon them.
